Preview will be Wednesday, September 4 at 6:30 pm in the Sanctuary.
Classes begin on Monday, September 16 at 6:30 pm for a nine week session.

Anyone who has taken the course can attend again at no cost, but material has changed and might need to be updated if it has been longer than 1 year.

Words by Molly Goodrich

When I was in college, I took a poetry class. In the class, I wrote bad poetry, was surprised at the good stuff coming from the minds of the strange class mates, got disturbing, yet helpful advice about writing, fell in love with the way words could come together, and got to meet a famous poet. He even signed my book when he came for a live reading. It said: Molly, fellow poet, we sing the soul's deepest chords, Peace, Li-Young Lee. That's when I think my little obsession over words started.

Words and the placement of words are important to me. (Now spelling, that's a whole other story.) Have you seen the Harry Potter movies? Well Dumbledore is the beloved head master at a school for magical witches and wizards. This quote is why I love Dumbledore. He said, "Words are, in my not-so-humble opinion, our most inexhaustible source of magic. Capable of both inflicting injury, and remedying it."

Scripture, like poetry, is the way we sing the soul's deepest chords. Scripture, like words, is our most inexhaustible source of magic. Capable of both inflicting injury, and remedying it.

As singers of the soul's deepest chords, yes, as Christians, let us remember to use our words and our scripture as a remedy for injury.

Let us sing our songs with feeling.

Let us meditate on the telling silence.

Let us worship!!

7 Elements of Our Faith

1. Sharing Our Spiritual Gifts
2. Creating a Meditative Life
3. Participating in Worship
4. Understanding Scripture
5. Building Relationships within the Church Family
6. Sharing Our Faith
7. Sharing Our Resources

Summer Focus

Turning our doubt into faith by learning how to
GROW, LIVE, and SHARE our Faith
