HE LIVES!

When I was a child Easter was one of those ho-hum holidays. Christmas had gifts, 4th of July had fireworks, birthdays had more gifts, Halloween had tons of candy. What did Easter have to offer? Eggs. Boiled eggs. Colored boiled eggs hidden in the yard. Then ham. What kind of holiday is that? Boring, that's what kind! The only redeeming things about Easter were the Easter baskets filled with cheap candy and the dying of the eggs (with that stupid colorless crayon that never worked to make the egg look like the ones on the box). Like I said, ho-hum.

It wasn't until much later that I began to explore what Easter is really about. I still struggle with the connection between Jesus' resurrection and dyed, boiled eggs hidden in the yard – but thankfully I am surrounded by a people who are working together to understand God's love in the sacrifice Jesus made for us. Through that growing understanding I am beginning to realize that because of His boundless grace we are all equipped to minister to the world and help others discover God's love for all of us.

As we gather this Easter Sunday to celebrate Jesus' victory over death, let's spend some time reflecting on ways we can share this good news with the world. Maybe we could take one of the baskets the children made and "egg" our neighbors. Maybe we can take a few minutes out of our day to visit someone who is home-bound. Or perhaps, instead of simply saying that Jesus died for our sins, we can shout with a song in our hearts that Jesus lives because of the love God has for us. So get up, go into the world, and share the grace and love that Jesus has shown us through His death and resurrection. There is nothing ho-hum about this holiday!

Peace,
Dan Simmons
